This fast paced webinar will address the following key topics:

- How government contractors can cope and prepare for more rigorous demands of government procurement and audit oversight due to the changing direction of acquisition processes mandated by the new White House Administration and Congressional criticism of the DCAA audit organization.
- How to prepare for federal procurement scrutiny unlike we have ever seen before due to acquisition reforms.
- Understanding the changes to government contractor procurement audits.
- Focus on best practices and strategies for successfully passing a new tidal wave of more demanding audits.
